Class President

Congratulations Class of 2001! It amazes me how fast these past four years have gone by. Like most of you, I am filled with mixed emotions. We will be leaving a place we have called our home away from home for the past four years. My hopes are that you have no regrets. Reflecting on the friendships we have developed, the enriching classes we have taken and the faculty and staff who have been our mentors and support, we will take what we have learned with us wherever life may lead us in the future. Our families have been with us from the very beginning and we have much to be grateful for to them for all they have done for us in making our journey in life possible.

You are all remarkable women. You are intelligent, headstrong individuals capable of doing anything you set your hearts to, and do not ever forget that. You are the leaders of the future and have the potential and energy to make a difference in the world by doing great things. Take that leap! Take what you have learned at Regis and apply it wherever you go—to your families, careers, and lifestyles. Never forget those special people who have opened your hearts and touched your souls.

I am proud to have been president of a class which has dedicated much of its time and energy to leadership and service to Regis and the world around us. Continue to touch the lives of the people you meet and never forget the memories and precious moments you enjoyed at Regis. Never lose sight of who you are or where you come from. Hold your head up high and be proud of yourself and your accomplishments.

Good luck and God Bless.
Annmarie Szwarc

"The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams." Eleanor Roosevelt

Dare we believe that graduation is upon us? Dare we believe that four years have come and gone right before us? Dare we believe that we are the graduates of the Class of 2001?

As we embarked upon our journey here at Regis, we were met with open doors, welcoming professors and smiling staff. We saw glimpses to the windows of our future. We were also met with open arms and open hearts from the members of the Class of 2001. Although strangers at first, we now have friendships sealed forever behind the doors of Regis.

Throughout these past years, we have been brought together as a class, a community, and friends to represent the future of Regis, beginning with our first official "Welcome" in the Fine Arts Center, to the traditional dinner at Morrison House. Serving at the Christmas Banquet, we experienced the heritage of the College. The Ring Ceremony brought us together as juniors, and lastly we have been together this past year for Cap and Gown Ceremony, Black Tie, Baccalaureate, and Graduation.

As we leave Regis, new doors of opportunity await. As the Class of 2001, we need to remember the doors we have entered and exited, that revolve around the traditions and memories we have of Regis.

Best wishes on your adventures to come,
Lisa Owen

Letter from the President

Greetings,

Doors have always been a part of our lives. We discovered early they were the frames through which those we loved passed out of our lives as they went to work, to the store, or to the myriad of places where adults must go. Our instinct was to go with them. And, at times, we worried that those who walked through doors without us were moving on to places where we could not go. There was an instinct which surfaced within us that wanted those we loved to stay with us, to be with us forever, or, at least, to take us with them.

As we grew, we were brought to doors of relatives, friends, churches, schools, and other doors as our experience in life brought us to the wider worlds of human existence. We, as children, were content to explore the world beyond those doors opened by others.

Yet, there came a time to all of us when we were able to open a door by ourselves, hesitate, enter and explore or stand back, walk away, and not pass through that frame to the broader world we had just exposed. We learned also that a door was a way of moving out of one world or letting in another world that would touch our lives.

The graduates of Regis College have not only walked through many doors at this College, but also built and discovered new doors through their experience. They are leaving the College, and the old familiar instinct of not wanting those we love to leave us surfaces.

But, the marvelous beauty of life will not be held at abeyance. There are many doors awaiting their passage. They will stand before these doors, some created by others and some built by themselves, and they will choose to enter or to walk away. It is the terrible and awesome beauty that comes with the freedom to choose.

They have before them many doors to worlds beyond their current experience. These new worlds the graduates have the ability to understand, to see beyond the immediate frame, and to make decisions if such a world will bring out the best within them and allow them to become the best person they are called to be by a loving God.

Our prayers, our hopes, our dreams, and our love go with each of them. May all the worlds beyond the doors of their experience welcome them lovingly and allow them to shape the world they have had the courage to enter.

As they leave us, walking through the front door of College Hall, we no longer fear that they will not return. They are forever ours. They bear our name. There will always be a door at Regis College welcoming them home.

With love and affection,

Sheila E. Megley, RSM

"Every new beginning comes from some other beginning's end." — Semisonic

Four years ago, we ended high school and began college. Now that we are graduating, we are again ending one part of our lives while at the same time beginning a new part. We all took different paths to get to Regis—we all came from different cities and towns, states, even countries—but somehow our separate paths directed us all to Regis. Some of us even took a detour at another college, a job, or the military before ending up at Regis, but we all got here and we were here together. Now we are again taking different paths—some of us are continuing our education; some of us are going to work, travel, or volunteer; and many of us will leave the Boston area or even Massachusetts. All of the stops along our journey have improved us, and we save these moments in our memories to help us with each new path we choose.

I think that we can all agree that Regis was the right path for each one of us to take, and the doors that we encountered while at Regis were well worth opening. "It takes a village to raise a child," and the Regis "village" turned all of us "children" into knowledgeable adults who are ready for the world.

I would like to remember our last year here at Regis as a happy ending headed toward a happy beginning. I wish you all exciting, challenging, happy doors ahead. Don't be afraid to open them! And remember that the doors at Regis will always be open for you.

Good luck and happiness to all!
Meg Morrill

"Where a door closes, somewhere another will open." — Maria von Trapp

For some twenty-two years, our lives have been shaped, guided, influenced, and dependent on others. Many of us, for the first time, are about to place both hands on the wheel and navigate through our lives, creating our own destinies. An embarkation will take place in which each of us will make an amazing leap from our familiar dependent lives, and step through a door to a new level of understandings, new appreciations, and knowledge.

As my experience illustrates, I have been molded and guided through my life for almost twenty-two years. Guided through an accordion of doors, I have received support and strength to complete my education. Each and every door has been attached to the next, and affects each that follows. At this precise moment in our lives, our past is coming to an end and our next chapter has yet to be written. We have planted no roots. We have signed no contracts. We are simply what we are. Imagine your future and let it become you. Out on the street, we are confronted by city block upon city block of opportunity. At each structure, there stands an open door. Each door can move us in a different direction, relocate us in a new region, and even bring us to new realizations and experiences. Never imagine a door locking behind you. Doors are meant for openings, never entrapment. Regret nothing and live for each day.

~ A Dedication to ~

Sister Sheila E. Megley

Sister Sheila has worked at Regis College since 1992. She was here to welcome us when we began our journey in 1997. Now, as we embark on our journey forward, she, too, leaves Regis. We go out into the world together.

Sister Sheila has watched and guided the college community through many momentous changes and improvements. Some of these include the completion of the Fine Arts Center in 1993, the creation and installation of RegisNet, and a new and improved Science Building. She has also worked tirelessly to raise funds for these improvements, to beautify the campus, and to bring Regis into the Twenty-First Century. Her dedication and fortitude will long be remembered, and her place in Regis history is forever embossed.

Sister Sheila, thank you for sharing with us your strength, determination, generosity, and knowledge. Your guidance has made Regis College a welcoming educational environment which we sadly leave, as we know you do too. You have made sure that we leave Regis with the tools we will need for success. Thank you for sharing nine years of your life with us, and thank you for making Regis a great college.

A Short History of Regis. . .

Walters Hall - Originally the carriage house for the farm owned by Mrs. Morrison, "the little red schoolhouse" served over the years as arts gallery, international student center, library, dormitory and classrooms. It once housed the Business Department and later became an art gallery, Walters Gallery, named in honor of Louis Walters, brother of Sister Louisella Walters, CSJ. Today it is known as Walters Hall and is again used as classrooms.

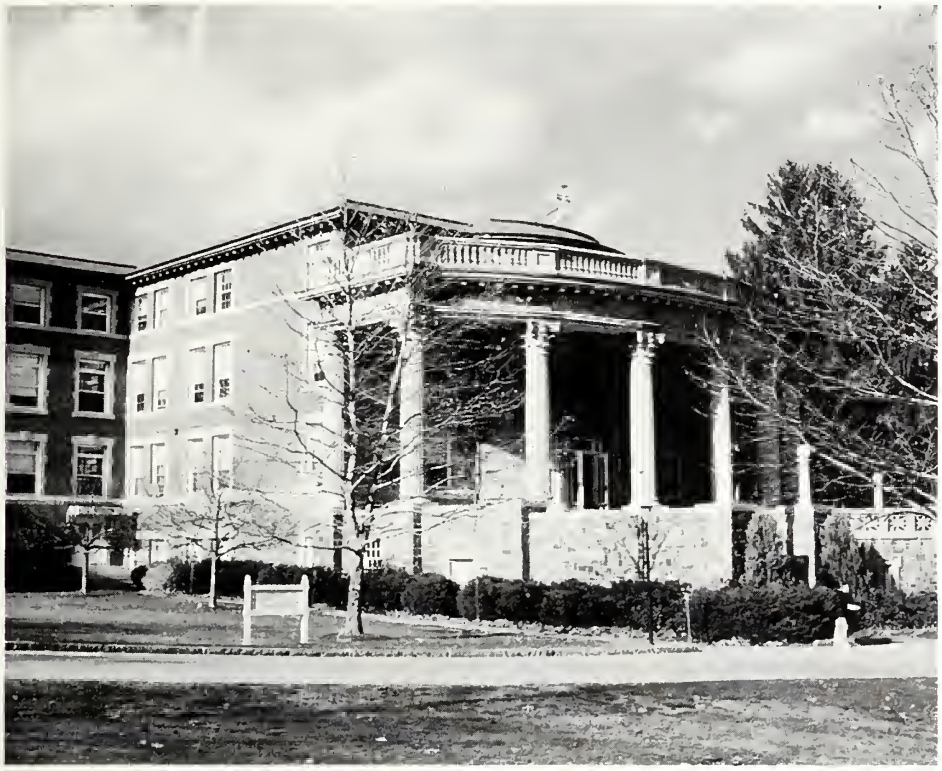
St. Joseph Hall - Residential quarters for the religious faculty and administrators. In August of 1947 the building was finished. The first Mass was held in convent chapel.

Between 1955 and 1963 Regis College constructed three dormitories. Maria Hall, named for the Marian year, Domitilla Hall, named for the foundress, and Angela Hall, named for October 2, Regis College Founders' Day, the Feast of the Holy Angels. In addition to providing residence for students, Health and Counseling Services are located in the lower level of Maria Hall.

Built in 1955, the Library was designed by Sister Macrina, Librarian. It houses over 129,000 volumes today. Through the WEBnet Consortium, which is comprised of Babson, Bentley, Pine Manor and Regis College, library users have access to over 300,000 volumes. The Library also has online databases and resources. On the third floor is the Nelson Center, an education resource library.

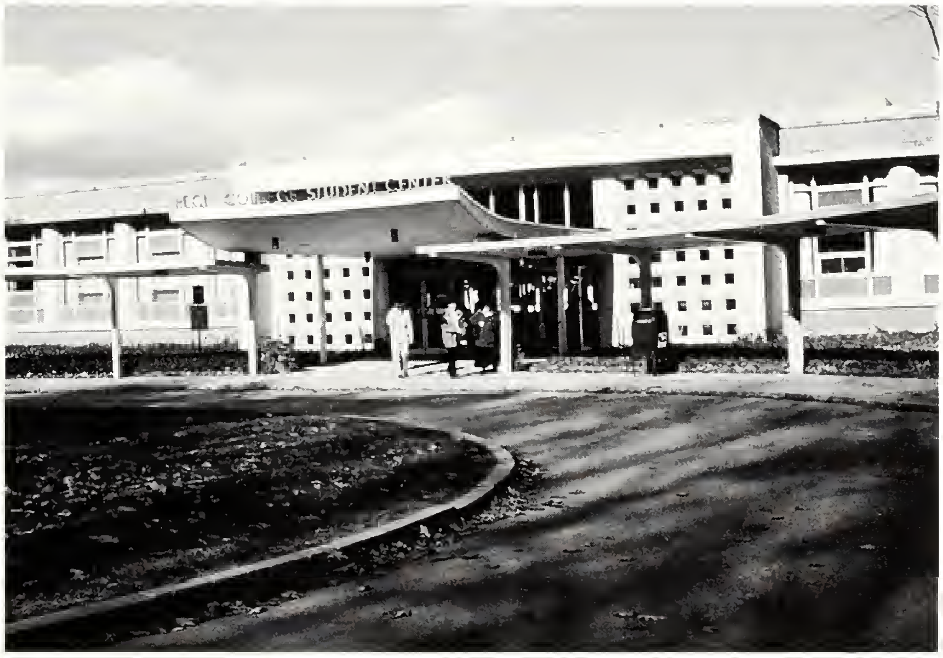
Cardinal O'Connell Hall (Science Building), built in 1938, was named for the Cardinal who had played an extensive part in the College's founding and fostering. A beautiful modern wing was added to the building in 1970 to provide for more lecture halls and laboratories necessitated by the addition of more scientific endeavors, specifically psychology. The Science Building was closed for remodelling from May to December 2000.

The Athletic Center, built in 1982, houses a 75-foot six-lane swimming pool and an area that can be used interchangeably for two indoor tennis courts, a basketball court, and volleyball and badminton courts. A dance studio and racquetball and squash courts are also included in the Center. In 1996, the Mary Carr Simeone '45 Fitness Center opened. It features Nautilus and cardiovascular exercise equipment.



College Hall - Regis College's first new colonial-style facility was built in 1928. It was built to accommodate classrooms, a library, executive offices, an assembly hall, dormitory space, dining hall, and social rooms. The north wing was added to College Hall in 1930 to provide for a gym, a chapel and quarters for the Home Economics Department. Additional dormitory rooms were also added with this wing. Regis was the first Catholic college for women built as a residential college in Massachusetts. Today, College Hall houses administrative/executive offices, classrooms, faculty offices, computer labs, the College Hall Chapel, and dormitory space. College Hall is connected by "The Tunnel" to St. Joseph Hall, Student Union, and directly connected to the Athletic Building.

Completed in 1993, the Fine Arts Center is a place for students to develop and express their creative gifts. The centerpiece of the 40,000 square-foot arts center is the 650-seat Eleanor Welch Casey Theatre, which is named for the late Mrs. Casey, an alumna and devoted patron of the arts. In addition to the Casey Theatre, there is a "black box" rehearsal theater. The Fine Arts Center integrates cutting-edge technology into the curriculum of art, music and drama, and positions the College as a cultural leader for the community. The Center includes traditional painting studios as well as computer labs for graphic design. The music lab includes integrated electronic keyboards and computers. The Carney Gallery, named for Laetitia Albiani Carney '58, enables the College to exhibit traditional and free-standing visual art.



Alumnae Hall (Student Union) - Room for students to sponsor functions and for student organizations to meet. The building was completed in 1962. Students dine in the main dining hall and the College Café, both redecorated in 1995. The bookstore, post office, and student lounges are also contained in the building. Tower Tavern, located in the lower level, provides a setting for campus talent and entertainment for Regis women and their guests.

Our Freshwoman Year...

Who could forget the hall parties? Or perhaps your crazy but wonderful roommate? Or maybe it was that darn mathematics class? We survived them all and gained valuable life experience—not to mention fifteen pounds! How we did it still remains a mystery. Domino's might be a clue!

Our Sophomore Year...

Between having dinner with Sister Sheila and serving at the Christmas Dinner Banquet, sophomore year was hardly a slump. We all had a lot on our plates, literally. We were so busy, we hardly had time to change our majors again. Yet, we muddled through and retained our sanity, for one more year anyway.

Our Junior Year...

Between the Ring Ceremony and upper level classes, Junior year was hardly a slump. Some of us added activities, jobs, or majors/minors. Somehow, we retained our sanity and even managed to have an occasional good time!

Ring Ceremony

The Junior Ring Ceremony signified not only the turning of our rings, but also the turning of time. How fast we had grown, and now we were the ones joining the ranks of women who had come before us. One band of gold branded us a Regis woman. Meanwhile, the Junior Ring Ceremony set the clocks in motion in the race toward graduation.

Cap & Gown

The Cap & Gown Ceremony, held on Oct. 1, 2000, marked the beginning of the end. This ceremony is one of many momentous events that occur during one's final year at Regis. It was on this day that the road to Commencement was paved as we, the graduating seniors, donned our caps and gowns for the first time and looked ahead to graduation with both excitement as well as fear. Dr. Seuss summed it up well when he asked: "How did it get so late so soon? It's night before it's afternoon. December is here before it's June. My goodness how the time has flewn. How did it get so late so soon?"

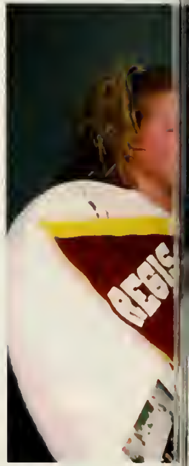
Hoop Rolling

The Hoop Rolling Ceremony is a time-honored tradition that dates back to Regis' early days. Some clever Regis women decided to remove the hoops from their skirts and race with these hoops down the hill, with the victor being the first one to marry. Hence, a tradition was born and these races continue today. However, now the winner is believed to be the first one to succeed in her chosen field.

After the Cap & Gown Ceremony, we proceeded to this year's Hoop Rolling Ceremony. The various hoops dazzled the eye and captured the sun's rays. As the race began, we all watched wistfully as our beautifully adorned hoops rolled down the hill. With it, we saw our futures soar ahead of us. On this day, our fears were confirmed — we were finally seniors!



The winners are Erin McKenna for fastest roll, Katie Sticklor for prettiest, and Kristen DiCorleto for most school spirit!

Christmas Banquet and Candle Lighting Ceremony '00

December 8, 2000 marked the day that we celebrated our final Christmas Banquet. We were finally the class of distinction, the honored seniors. In our stocking we had a GRE prep-booklet, our favorite pair of pajama bottoms, a pair of nylons that would soon replace our pajama bottoms, and an ever-present Dunkin' Donuts cup, among other items. Besides sharing an excellent meal, and wonderful conversation, we had an opportunity to gather with friends as we sat and wondered again, where did the time go? Meanwhile, we capped off the evening with the Candle and Tree Lighting Ceremony. In the hush of twinkling battery-operated lights in the Foyer, we looked at our fellow students as we sang Christmas carols. When the lights were lit, we realized how blessed we all were to have shared our time in such a wonderful school like Regis.

Belt out that tune, seniors!

Getting a job is a fairy tale they say, but we hope and pray we'll have jobs someday with health benefits and pay.

There must have been some magic in that College on the hill, for when they placed that ring on me, it gave me such a thrill.

Oh one more semester, and we will all be free to laugh and play and be worlds away from tickets, from CP.

Clickety click click, Clickety click click, hear that keyboard go! Clickety click click, Clickety click click, five papers in a row!

Sad are the seniors for we know that soon comes May. So we said, "Let's run and we'll have some fun 'til grad-u-ation day."

Up to the tower with kleenex in our hands through the daisy chain our degrees to gain humming Pomp and Circumstance.

Get ready for the pictures now and smile for mom and pop and we'll only pause a moment when we hear them holler "Stop!"

For all of us seniors have to hurry on our way. But we'll wave goodbye saying "Don't you cry, we'll be back again some day."

Christmas Semi-Formal

On December 2, 2000, the frost of winter adorned the windows of the Fine Arts Center's Atrium for the Snowball Semi-Formal. Although the cold was matched outside the building, the feeling at the annual Christmas Semi-Formal was anything but chilly. The music fired the energy of the crowd, whose festivity was not easily outdone. The gowns were all fabulous, frenzied, and some even frighteningly. . .brave? The freeze of December was easily forgotten and a fun time was had by all! For some, it was their first Semi-Formal where they could have drinks!! And then we remembered that as poor college students, we couldn't afford to buy drinks anyway!

FIELDHOCKEY

With just enough players and a new coach, the Regis field hockey team fought hard and was determined not to let the obstacles get in the way. The team gave it all they had and the 3-15 record does not represent the team's heart and desire not to give up. The team was lead by tri-captains Tina Aldridge, Ann-Marie Potts, and Katrina Taft. With many injuries also serving as obstacles, the team came out strong and played every second of every game. To sum up the season with a few words..."For the love of the game, for the sweat and the tears, for the blood and the pain, field hockey for life." -Katrina Taft

CROSS COUNTRY

The Regis College cross country team had another great season under the leadership of head coach Frank Poulin. Led by tri-captains Alicia Teague '01, Chelsie Restic-Metcalf '02, and Courtney O'Keefe '02, the team repeated its first-place win at the Massachusetts Maritime Invitational. Thanks to senior Alicia Teague for four dedicated years of great running.

VOLLEYBALL

With a record of 6-17, the volley ball season was not as successful as the team would have liked. It was a season full of memories. Co-captains Courtney McAulay (senior) and Shannon Nagy (junior) did an admirable job leading the team and keeping a positive attitude throughout the season, despite the record. Many other players contributed their talent and knowledge to the team and made it an unforgettable season. -Courtney McAulay

SOCCER

This past season was a rebuilding one for the soccer team. Led by new coach Christina Contardo and tri-captains Ali Hamilton, Erin McKenna, and Anna Munson, a team of mostly new players set new goals for Regis soccer. These goals consisted of hard work, confidence, communication, and dedication—the building blocks to success. The team will be losing five very dedicated seniors, but they leave behind a legacy of inspiration, determination, and an incredible sense of togetherness that will continue on in the Regis soccer tradition. -Anna Munson

TENNIS

Co-Captains Jennie Reis and Amy Hansen.

Led by Coach Roberta Daniele, this year was a rebuilding one for the tennis team. The team continued to improve its record with help from senior co-captain Amy Hansen who contributed her knowledge of the sport and actions as a positive leader for this year's team. As a young team with underclass athletes filling up the roster, the experience they have gained this year, along with the leadership of sophomore co-captain Jennie Reis, can only move the team in a positive direction, continuing to better themselves and their record. The tennis team thanks Amy for a great season and wishes her the best of luck.

SWIMMING

We like water,
We're so cool,
We like swimming
In our pool!

Sometimes we jive,
None of our swimmers

We'd rather do homework
Than go to the gym,
We're in our element
When we swim!

BASKETBALL

With only two returning players from last year's squad (junior G/F Helen Dinan and sophomore F Karrie Barber), and newly acquired head coach Wendy Rogers, the basketball team had a new look to it this year. Filling out the remainder of the seven-player roster were senior transfer Tillie Trimboli (Ludlow, Vt), junior transfers Kathy Barberi (Whitestone, NY) and Christa Wirth (Eglisau, Switzerland), and freshmen Nicole Healy (Arlington) and Mary Gay (Rockland). With such low numbers this season, everyone was forced to play an important role. Junior Kathy Barberi and thousand-point scorer Helen Dinan led the Pride in scoring and were among the statistical leaders in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. Christa Wirth was the team's point guard and led the Pride in assists and three-point field goals. Without much size, Karrie Barber, Tillie Trimboli, and Nicole Healy provided the team with much needed rebounds and were also able to come through with some crucial points. Coming off the bench for the Pride was freshman Mary Gay who was able to give the team a boost with her aggressive defense and three-point shooting. The captains of this year's team were Helen Dinan and Christa Wirth.

Election 2000

George W. Bush selects Dick Cheney, former Wyoming representative, and former secretary of defense as his vice-presidential running mate on the Republican ticket.

The 2000 presidential election was in many ways decided by not just the voters but the courts. Five weeks after election day, the US Supreme Court blocked Al Gore's request to have disputed Florida ballots recounted. George W. Bush and Dick Cheney won the election after being awarded Florida's 25 electoral votes.

Antiquated voting methods in this age of technology threw the presidential election into turmoil. Punch card ballots, and the accompanying "Votomatic" system were first created in the 1960s. Disputed ballots had chads, or paper fragments hanging from the punch card that made it difficult for voting machines to read the ballots.
